Cellcosmet Swiss BioTech CellBrightening Mask – Pure pampering and natural Swiss ingredients.

After a day spent on a strenuous hike in the Swiss Alps, what could be more rejuvenating than immersing yourself in pure glacial water, surrounded by the soothing fragrance of wild Alpine flowers – leaving your tired legs feeling younger and refreshed. This indulgence has now been encapsulated and magnified into a highly-effective, luxury face mask which delivers its revitalising, hydrating and brightening properties in just 20 minutes.

Cellcosmet Swiss BioTech CellBrightening Mask is the latest in a whole series of high-tech, yet naturally-focussed cosmetic products to be developed by Cellap Laboratoire, the leader in the field of Swiss cellular and phyto cosmeceuticals. Specially created for the 25+ age range, its multi-action formula comprises carefully selected active ingredients: Cellular Complex (6%), made up of active stabilised bio-integral cells obtained through the CellControl™ method, a world exclusive from Cellap Laboratoire, the Expert Elasto-Collagen Complex for firming and hydrating, Complexe Hyaluronsilanol, which restructures and protects, a refreshing Marine Complex, reinvigorating royal jelly extract, vitamins B3 and C for their brightening and anti-pigmentation action, as well as water from a Swiss glacier, extracts of Alpine Flax and Alpine Skullcap and the soothing properties of organic Swiss oats.

The dermatologically tested mask feels wonderfully soothing on the skin, not least thanks to the ultra-finely structured biocellulose material which optimises deep transfer of the active ingredients. The results are visible immediately after use. The hydrated skin radiates freshness and youth and is noticeably smoother and more plumped. The company recommends two masks a week for ten weeks as an intensive treatment or once a week throughout the year. We will definitely be adding it to our regular beauty routine and will continue to enjoy that wonderful rejuvenating feeling equivalent to bathing in a wonderfully refreshing glacial pool.
